Labor Doula Students Serving Our Community

“Speak tenderly to them. Let there be kindness in your face, in your eyes, in your smile, in the warmth of our greeting. Always have a cheerful smile. Don’t only give your care, but give your heart as well.”

- Mother Teresa

Support and kindness are found in many daily moments and can be especially helpful during birth.

Labor Doulas can bring a sense of kindness, compassion and continuity of care for birthing moms and families. While the support of a doula during childbirth can be extremely helpful to any woman, those who do not speak English as their native language often face unique challenges at the hospital, including language barriers and discrimination. Although doula support during childbirth can and does reach across cultural lines, many birthing women feel the most support with a doula who speaks the same language by their side. When women feel safe and get their needs met, birth outcomes are better.

Birthingway’s labor doula scholarship program began in 2006. The purpose of this program was to increase access to doula care within various under-served populations by training doulas that come from and work within that population. In the past few years, the scholarship expanded to include three types of communities where access to same-community doulas is difficult. These communities include bilingual or non-English speaking women, incarcerated women, and homeless women.

One of our scholarship recipients, Alvina Blaine, who took the labor doula workshop in 2010 and recently became a certified doula, has been serving the Hispanic community. “I am very active within the Hispanic community...I love people, even the ones who are down and out. I’ve been there, done that, at some point in my life. At one time I had to work to support myself and my oldest two daughters as a single mom. I am happy to help in the Hispanic community.”

In the past few years, our labor doula scholarship has been awarded to over a dozen labor doulas, many who have gone on to serve their communities during childbirth. As the program continues to grow, Birthingway now offers a scholarship once a term, more if space is available.

If you are interested in becoming a doula and serving your community, Birthingway is offering a 9 week course in April 2012.

We are currently accepting labor doula scholarship applications. To apply or request more information, please contact Sadie Eck at Sadie@birthingway.edu

New Staff

Sarah Kinsel recently joined Birthingway’s team as the Assistant to the President. When not at the College, she spends time writing, offering spiritual accompaniment, and exploring the wilds of the Pacific Northwest. She also facilitates awareness hikes and retreats connecting spirituality, creativity, and wilderness. She loves to read, cook, and enjoy good food with family and friends.

Originally from the Midwest, Sarah has lived in Portland for 7 of the last 10 years and currently makes a home with her husband and cat at the foot of Mt. Tabor. Her eclectic background includes environmental education, theology and spiritual leadership development, and three years as program staff for a local non-profit. All experiences have been on the same path, however: honoring and nurturing the sacred in life.

New Partnerships: Midwifery Clinical Training

Third year student Isabel Crosby is working with Dana Shibley at Andaluz. Second year student Cindy Stumpf is working with Kate Howe at Andaluz. Extension student, Susan Buckley and Patricia Couch are working together at Bella Vie in Salem, Oregon. Second year student Katrina Bubas-Stevens is working with Celeste Kersey at Full Moon Midwifery in Canby, Oregon. First year student Melissa Wiseman is working with Jessica Dolin at Andaluz.

Appreciations

We are so grateful for all the wonderful donations we receive on a regular basis. All of the donations help provide our students with a quality education.

Marina Anderson, extension student, donated a “Kozy Kushion,” breastfeeding support pads, and other items.

Lactation program student Catherine Shelton donated beautiful table cloths.

Kim Le, midwifery student, donated a textbook.

Without donations, from our supporters, we would not be where we are today. We are a 501(c)3 and all donations are tax deductible.

Midwifery Admissions Committee
Thank You’s

Choosing the next incoming midwifery program cohort is a tireless job! It is the unwavering support and dedication of staff and students that make the selection process possible!

For the admission committee, the past few months have been filled with many responsibilities including interviews, discussion, late meetings and, of course, hours of critical reading of applications.

A heartfelt thank you goes to the following students who volunteered on the admissions committee: Amy McDonald, Catherine Bailey, Brooke O’Steen, Dana Comperchio, Courtney Holmes, Danielle Boettcher, Danielle Kit, Dionne Frey, Elizabeth Schroeder, Emily Padua, Erin Yocom, Maura Jansen, Micki Garcia, Sharon Evans, Suzanne Koenig, and Valerie Schlaht.

The staff members admissions committee members were: Sadie Eck, Amari Fauna, Nancy Longatan, Rhonda Ray, Nichole Reding, and Holly Scholles. A special thank you to Julia Reid for facilitating the eight hour meeting on Saturday, January 7 to select Birthingway’s matriculating class of 2012! We will announce the names of our newly enrolled students in the summer newsletter.

A Special Thank You to Birthingway
From Bonnie McAnnis, A & P Instructor

Thank you for all the ways in which you have helped me to grow over these past 13 years as your A&P instructor. Every class community offered so many opportunities to learn more and more about our fabulous human bodies and the amazing journeys they provide for each one of us. Each student throughout the years has taught me about the yearning of the heart and the poignancy of the call of midwifery. I feel blessed to have been given the opportunity to learn and grow as a teacher and as a woman with this unique community. I would not be who I am today if not for the many gifts and lessons I have received from all my various roles and relationships within Birthingway. May you all find what you need as you engage this path of midwifery and lactation consultants. The world needs the love, courage and spirit that is at the heart of this Birthingway community. Thank you, again, for allowing me to be a part of it all. - Bonnie McAnnis Birthingway would also like to whole-heartedly thank Bonnie for all the work she has put into her teaching. Her impact is significant and has touched so many in our community. Faculty members like her are what make Birthingway such a vibrant and warm place. Bonnie will no longer be teaching A & P in order to continue pursing her Masters Degree in Divinity. She will continue teaching Massage for Midwives.

Extraordinary Thank You

Birthingway would like to share some very wonderful news with our community! The Fidelity Charitable Gift Fund donated $5,000 to our programs. This gift was made possible by Jeanne and David Laskin and the Laskin Family Charitable Fund. We truly appreciate your generosity and support!
Description:

Birthway is excited to announce a workshop designed to assist Birth and Lactation professionals in better understanding the challenges with frenula and tongue tie. This workshop is intended to help you:

- Define and identify tongue tie in the breastfed infant
- Explain the physiology of tongue tie and it’s impact on breastfeeding

Birthingway College of Midwifery - 12113 SE Foster Rd., Portland Oregon, 97266 ~ p) 503.760.3131 ~ f)503.760.3332 ~ www.birthingway.edu
What sparked your interest in becoming a midwife?

Through some combination of willingness, interest, and discreetness, I became the go-to women’s/sexual health person in my college community. One day I was helping a friend look up something vaginal-health related, and she said, “You love vaginas so much, you should be a midwife and get paid to look at them all day!” I didn’t think that was exactly what midwives got paid to do, but the suggestion was something of an “ah-ha” moment for me. A local homebirth midwife offered to take me to some births, and it was all downhill from there.

What ignited your interest in practicing midwifery in another country?

In 2007, Senegal doing research on the movement to integrate traditional medicine into the national healthcare system. I worked with an NGO (PROMETRA International) which is spearheading this movement, with some healers in the Serer region, and at a clinic in Dakar. Healthcare access and dissemination has always been a strong interest of mine, and my time in Senegal deepened that interest and instilled a love for the country. The opportunity to return to Senegal, to return to do birth work, and to further my research into international healthcare development was irresistible!

Which country will you be studying/practicing in?

I will be headed to Senegal, West Africa in April with the African Birth Collective. ABC is a Eugene-based non-profit that partners with birth centers in Senegal to offer high-volume, international birth experience to midwifery students. I spent eight months in Senegal in 2006-2007, taking classes and doing research, and am very excited to be going back to do birth work.

What is the population you will be serving?

The birth center is in the village of Kafountine, in the south of the country, and it serves rural and semi-urban women. I expect most of the women will speak Djolla and Wolof (two of many ethnic languages) and some will speak French. Malnutrition, early onset of childbearing, high parity, lack of access to prenatal care, and intense physical demands of daily life are challenges I expect to see our clients facing. When I was in Dakar, the capital city, in 2007 I spent some time in a health center maternity ward, and there birth was viewed as a very normal experience to be met with stoicism and faith.

How will this experience change your view on midwifery?

This question is weighing heavily on my mind right now and will, in fact, be my research project. While on this trip I will be chronicling my own experiences and interviewing the three to five other students about how their expectations, preparations, experiences, and reflections have changed their ideas of the universality of midwifery. I am very interested in how volunteer tourism impacts individuals in their growth as midwives and how it plays into global midwifery’s growth as a movement.

What words of wisdom do you have for current students?

So far the hardest part has been lining up all the pieces. There was a lot of back and forth on the dates of the trip; now there is a lot more paperwork and logistical planning then I expected. As for the trip itself, the most important preparation for me has been brushing up on my French and Wolof language skills.

within the refund period, you remain responsible for all tuition and fees. Should you decide to cancel this agreement in writing within three business days, you are entitled to a full refund of all fees and tuition. After the three-day cancellation period, should you decide to cancel your registration and not attend, refunds will be made per the refund policy below.

REFUND POLICY - You are expected to attend all classes for which you register. If you do not attend or stop attending and fail to drop within the refund period, you remain responsible for all tuition and fees. If you wish to drop a course, please fill out a Withdrawal/Drop Form (available on our website or in the front office) and either mail, fax, or hand it in to the front office. You will receive a refund of tuition per the refund schedule below. Registration Fee, Late Registration Fee, and Technology Fee are non-refundable. Equipment Kit Fees, Course-pack Fees, and Lab Fees are non-refundable after the Registration Deadline. Please allow four to six weeks for receipt of refund.

Payment of tuition and fees is due at the time of registration for each term unless you are eligible for a financial aid disbursement in the term (have a complete FAFSA on file and signed award letter with an anticipated disbursement in this term). Financial Aid is only available for eligible Midwifery or ALC Degree Students. Equipment kit charges are due when ordered, unless you are on financial aid AND you have authorized payment from your financial aid disbursement. All overdue amounts are subject to finance charges of 15% APR with a $5 minimum per month. A student must be in good financial standing to register for a new term. Any costs incurred to collect these amounts are the responsibility of the student.

Credit card payments are accepted through PayPal by visiting http://www.birthingway.edu/payment.htm. You don’t need a PayPal account to pay with your credit card. By paying through PayPal, you agree to PayPal and Birthingway’s terms and conditions. You must include a copy of your PayPal payment confirmation if paying by PayPal, or your registration will be incomplete and delayed until confirmation is received.

By signing below, I agree that I have read and understand all policies stated above.

An unsigned registration form will delay your registration until signed.
