A Look Back: Celebrating 20 Years of Birthway

In 1993, Birthway College of Midwifery started out as a six-month study group in the home of Holly Scholles. It was clear that six months would not be enough: the women involved in this program were on fire to learn as much as they could about midwifery. Within four years the study group became a three year program and was on track to gain MEAC accreditation. As the program grew, changes came swiftly. A large old house in Southeast Portland became our new home in 1999. Change has been an ongoing part of our growth. Many instructors and preceptors have joined us over the years; we were authorized by the State of Oregon to offer a Bachelor of Science in Midwifery Degree, and we have been able to offer Title IV Financial Aid. In addition to midwifery, for several years Birthway has educated Lactation Consultants, Labor Doulas, Postpartum Doulas and Childbirth Educators.

Yet with all of this growth, the values and beliefs at Birthway’s core remain intact. We are a community learning together, teachers and students alike. We are fortunate to have many “specialists” on our faculty who have a tremendous amount of knowledge to share with our students, and yet, in every class, we incorporate time and opportunity for students and faculty to learn from each other. We honor and encourage diversity and multivocality, not just on paper, but in classes every day, on our committees, and in our decision-making processes. We are relationship based, emphasizing face-to-face interactions, communication skills, kindness, compassion, and personal integrity and responsibility. At the foundation of all of our programs is the philosophical model we refer to as biodynamic birth, in which childbirth is not only a natural part of human life, it is a necessary part, intimately connected with what it is to be human.

The “bio” in biodynamic reflects broad biological themes, while the “dynamic” aspects ensure that our model is very woman-centered and individualized. Biodynamic birth emphasizes the known physiological aspects of birth, particularly the hormonal pathways that can help or hinder birth, including ways to increase the beneficial and necessary hormones such as oxytocin “the love hormone,” while decreasing the interfering hormones such as adrenaline. This model encourages women to allow themselves to move into their instinctual birthing and breastfeeding bodies, and out of their rational thinking brains.

We are proud of the ways in which Birthway has grown and changed and yet held on to our core values and models of learning. We hope to continue this path and look forward to many more years of working with amazing students as they pursue their dreams of serving women and families.

New Partnerships: Midwifery Clinical Training

Katherine Adams, second year midwifery student, is working with Kori Pienovi and second year midwifery student, Erin Yocum, is working with Ellie Legare, CNM, IBCLC.

Birthingway graduate and Alma midwife, Katherine Sanderson is working with extension year midwifery student Maura Jansen, and third year midwifery students Calla Maria Davis-Boozer, and Liz Clary. Mirra Nerrenberg, Birthingway graduate, is working with second year midwifery student Suzanne Koenig.

New Staff

Robin Weaver recently joined the Birthingway community as our new library assistant. She moved to the Portland area in 2001 from Oakland, CA but was born and raised in the Los Angeles area. She has attended Portland Community College and Portland State University and has a degree in Biology as well as Dental Lab Technology. She has been working at Portland Community College’s library for the past eight years and is thrilled to join Kathryn as her assistant in our beautiful library. When not in the library, Robin can be found hanging out with her Chihuahua and two cats, playing piano, going for hikes, gardening or reading books.

Welcome Robin!

Let's Start Planting!

Get your garden gloves on and join in to help start healthy seedlings indoors on March 11, 2013 from 5:30-8:30pm. The plants will be sold at our 11th annual Plant Sale in May! All are welcome to come join in.

All the proceeds from the sale go to support our programs and students!

If you can't attend but would like to help, please bring soil, plastic planters, and seeds. You could also donate your planting starts: strawberries, potatoes, garlic or native plants are especially appreciated.

Birthingway alumna, Laurie Mednick, CPM, would love to announce that she is co-authoring a book with Courtney Jarecki about women’s experiences of having a planned homebirth which ends in cesarean, and how midwives care for these women.

Babies & More Babies!

Midwifery Admissions Committee
Thank Yous

Choosing the next incoming midwifery program cohort is a tireless job! It is the unwavering support and dedication of staff and students that make our very unique and conscientious selection process possible!

For the Admission Committee, the past few months have been filled with many responsibilities including interviews, discussion, late meetings and, of course, hours of critical reading of applications.

Our heartfelt thank you goes to the following students who volunteered on the admissions committee: Calina Brooke, Liz Clary, Sharon Evans, Kyla Carstensen, Talia Wang, Allegra Anderson, Courtney Holmes, Emily Padua, Isabel Crosby, Emily Born, Maggie Bennett, Sylvie Orr, Alicia Flanagan, Dionne Frey, and Erin Yocum.

The staff admissions committee members were Sadie Eck, Amari Fauna, Lauren Edholm, Nancy Longatan, Rhonda Ray, Nichole Reding, and Holly Scholles. A special thank you to Sarah Kinsel for facilitating the ten hour meeting on Saturday, January 12 to select Birthingway’s matriculating class of 2013! We will announce the names of our newly enrolled students in the summer newsletter.

Coming Soon: Birthingway Cookbook

Do you have a recipe that you'd like to share with our community?

A committee of dedicated students and community members is developing a Birthingway cookbook. We need your help! We will be seeking submissions in the near future, so think about your favorite recipes to share, particularly ones that have a history at Birthingway that you brought once to a potluck! Did you make that tea for Plant Medicine class? Is this a final project recipe from Nutrition? We will be including both traditional food recipes and medicinal recipes.

Submissions and inquiries can be sent to Jena Novotny, Outreach Coordinator at Jena@birthingway.edu

Donation Thank Yous!

Birthingway is so grateful for all the wonderful donations we receive on a regular basis. All of the donations help provide our students with a quality education.

Postpartum Doula

We had a very full training in Fall term and are excited to see the Postpartum Doula Program grow. We are happy to welcome the following to our Postpartum Doula Program:

- Cassidy Bartolini
- Rebekah Marriott

We will be offering workshops for Labor Doula, Postpartum Doula and Childbirth Educator this Spring term. Please contact Sadie Eck, our Specialized Programs Coordinator, at sadie@birthingway.edu for more information.

Labor Doula

Our Labor Doula Program is very busy! As our program continues to grow, so do the birth leads that come in from the surrounding area. We have several students who joined the practicum these past terms and many more close to certification. We are very excited to welcome the following to our Labor Doula Practicum:

- Becci Baumgarden
- Allie Cislo
- Vanessa Duthie
- Harley Rose Ellington
- Chelsea Fardelman
- Celina Green
- Ariel Hernandez
- Anny Hsiao
- Kirby Jozwiak-Bain
- Annaleah Lucero
- Morgan Swor
- Shaina Traisman

And a big congratulations to Christa Billings, Michelle Cushing, Maggie Bennett, Kristen Laxson, Sylvie Orr, and Prudence Leith for certifying as Birthingway labor doulas! Thank you for all your hard work and dedication to our program.

Birthingway is proud to say that in the past 20 years:

- We have trained 750 labor doulas
- We have certified at least 70 labor doulas
- Our student doulas have supported over 400 low income families at no cost

We are proud to serve our community and continue supporting moms and babies for another 20 years.

Community Spotlight

Carrie McCormick, CPM
Midwife & International Activist

When and how did you become part of the Birthingway community?

I was part of the initial study group in 1993 that evolved into Birthingway! We were a group of women, many of whom are still involved with the school and are practicing midwives, that came together in Bonnie McAnnis’ living room to study and motivate each other as we pursued midwifery skills and knowledge.

Holly joined us as the facilitator for our study group and was, of course, superb as a teacher and guide. Before we knew it, we were no longer in Bonnie’s living room but meeting around a large round table in Holly’s home and we were in school! I recall it being a very natural outcome of studying together – having no idea that someday Birthingway would evolve into one of the preeminent midwifery schools in North America!

What different types of jobs/roles have you done throughout the years?

I’ve worn many hats within the Birthingway community: student, teacher, faculty coordinator, board member, and belly and IV model. Hanging around for 20 years gives one ample time to try out lots of jobs.

Concurrent with my Birthingway involvement I studied for a Masters of Public Health while tending bar at a swank billiards club, guiding river and mountain adventures for Outward Bound, apprenticing myself to any local and international midwives that would have me, and having the opportunity to work as an apprentice, assistant, and partner with several Portland area midwives, learning a tremendous amount from them.

I married my long distance sweetheart and moved to Central Europe and began working with a group of Hungarian women trying to change incredibly hostile birth conditions, then returned to my beloved Kenya to teach and learn from traditional birth attendants on the shores of Lake Victoria.

Then I embarked on the greatest adventure of all, motherhood, and have gotten to share my love of travel with my daughter, taking her along when I joined the African Birth Collective and worked in remote maternity centers in Senegal. I’ve taught yoga and played on a competitive badminton team while living in the Middle East and just last week had the opportunity to be doula to a dear friend’s son and daughter-in-law . . .

How has being apart of the Birthingway community impacted your life?

I’m not sure I can easily summarize the extent that to which being a part of the Birthingway community has impacted my life. It has given me structure, an anchor and a ticket to opportunities world wide. Most importantly, Birthingway has always provided a safe place - a deep and rich community of women to learn from, lean on, play, and grow with. Birthingway has been and continues to be a true gift in my life.

Since we are celebrating our 20th anniversary this year, do you have a favorite story to share?

Where to start . . . What comes to mind is not so much a story as a couple of things that Holly has instilled and exemplified for me – premises she’s built the school on trust. Trust in birth, in women, in the power of following your passion, in the strength of community. That vision combined with small, steady steps produces amazing results and that it’s worth the risk!

International Midwifery Day is May 5, 2013!

If you are interested in practicing midwifery internationally, please contact

Faculty Coordinator,

Library News

New in the Library

As we start to see new growth appear in spring, you are likely to see new arrivals in the library. We are making good progress replacing our VHS collection with new DVD releases of titles that have recently been converted. And there are always new books that arrive during the winter months. Please check out the new Library section of the Web site and look in the online catalog for the latest items. We have several pages and sections to help you connect with library resources, including links to 15+ databases that you can access for free. Please call or email the library for details.

Payment of tuition and fees is due at the time of registration for each term unless you are eligible for a financial aid disbursement in the term (have a complete FAFSA on file and signed award letter with an anticipated disbursement in this term). Financial Aid is only available for eligible Midwifery or ALC Degree Students. Equipment kit charges are due when ordered, unless you are on financial aid AND you have authorized payment from your financial aid disbursement. All overdue amounts are subject to finance charges of 15\% APR with a $5 minimum per month. A student must be in good financial standing to register for a new term. Any costs incurred to collect these amounts are the responsibility of the student.

Credit card payments are accepted through PayPal by visiting http://www.birthingway.edu/payment.htm. You don’t need a PayPal account to pay with your credit card. By paying through PayPal, you agree to PayPal and Birthingway’s terms and conditions. You must include a copy of your PayPal payment confirmation if paying by PayPal, or your registration will be incomplete and delayed until confirmation is received.

By signing below, I agree that I have read and understand all policies stated above.
